UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiff,
vs.
FALLBROOK PUBLIC UTILITY
DISTRICT, et al.,
Defendants.

No. 1247-SD-C

FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW AND INTERLOCUTORY DECREE
NUMBER 25 PERTAINING TO 1930
AND 1940 CALIFORNIA STATE COURT JUDGMENTS.

This Court, having duly considered the records, pleadings and evidence in this case, the law applicable thereto and the arguments of counsel, does hereby make and enter Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Interlocutory Decree as follows:

I

The Santa Margarita River is a coastal stream which drains a watershed in San Diego and Riverside Counties; that said river is supported by numerous tributaries, the major two being Temecula and Murrieta Creeks; that said Santa Margarita

AK

1 River flows through lands of the United States of America for 2 2 approximately 21 miles and thereupon enters the Pacific Ocean; 3 that the lands of the United States of America through which 4 said river flows were acquired by it either by condemnation or 5 purchase during the years 1941, 1942 and 1943, and since said
6 dates have been used principally as a military reservation 7 and include Camp Joseph H. Pendleton, a United States Naval 8 Hospital, and a Naval Ammunition Depot; that the military 9 reservation in its entirety has a total area of approximately 10 135,000 acres of which a considerable portion is without the 11 drainage area of the Santa Margarita River; that the United 12 States of America is the last downstream owner and water user 13 on the Santa Margarita River and all other parties to this 14 proceeding are upstream claimants to the use of said waters.

15 II

16 That on or about May 5, 1930, the Superior Court of 17 the State of California in and for the County of San Diego 18 entered findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment in 19 Case No. 42850 in the records of said Court which in essence 20 defined the extent of the surface and ground waters of said
21 Santa Margarita River and its tributaries, determined the ex-22 tent of the parties' land riparian thereto, apportioned the 23 entire waters of said river and its tributaries to the riparian 24 parties in that action and imposed certain injunctive re-25 strictions.

26 III

27 That the parties to the said action referred to in 28 Finding II hereinabove were the Rancho Santa Margarita, Vail
29 Company, the Executors of the Will of Murray Schloss, deceased, 30 and Philip Playtor.

31 - - - -

2 That the Rancho Santa Margarita, the Executors of 3 the Will of Murray Schloss, deceased, and Philip Playtor did 4 not appeal from said judgment referred to hereinabove in 5 Finding II; that Vail Company did appeal from certain portions 6 only of said judgment; that the portions of said judgment from 7 which Vail Company appealed were those that defined the extent
8 of the Vail Company land riparian to the Santa Margarita River 9 and its tributaries, which apportioned said waters to said ripa-10 rian lands and which pertained to injunctive relief; that 11 thereafter and on or about July 12, 1938, the Supreme Court of 12 the State of California reversed those said portions of the 13 judgment which pertained to the extent of the riparian land of 14 Vail Company which allocated waters to Vail Company and which 15 imposed certain injunctive restraints; that said Supreme Court 16 remanded the case with directions that the new trial be limited 17 to those matters specifically disapproved and affirmed the trial 18 court's judgment as to all other matters; that said decision of 19 the Supreme Court is recorded in 11 Cal.2d 501; that thereafter
20 on or about December 26, 1940, the Superior Court of the State
21 of California in and for the County of San Diego in said Case 22 No. 42850 entered a judgment pursuant to the stipulation of 23 the parties; said judgment in essence allocated to the Rancho 24 Santa Margarita two-thirds and Vail Company one-third of 25 the entire waters of the Santa Margarita River and its tribu-26 taries, provided for a minimum surface stream flow, and as 27 to the Rancho Santa Margarita provided that said Rancho could 28 use the waters allocated to it both within and without the 29 Santa Margarita River watershed, and as to Vail Company provi-
30 ded that Vail Company could use its allocated waters on cer-31 tain specified non-riparian land.

2 That the waters involved in the litigation set 4 3 forth in the above findings are the same waters which are in-4 volved in litigation before this Court; that Vail Company and 5 the Executors of the Will of Murray Schloss, deceased, are 6 parties in the action before this Court, and that the United 7 States of America, a party in this action, is in privy to and 8 the successor of the Rancho Santa Margarita, and that Max
9 Henderson, a party in this action, is in privy to and the succes-10 sor of Philip Playtor.

11

VI

12 It is not true that the 1940 judgment referred to 13 hereinabove is a separate and distinct judicial document isola-14 ted from the 1930 findings of fact and judgment referred to 15 hereinabove; it is not true that said 1940 judgment abrogated 16 and made ineffectual the 1930 findings of fact and judgment as 17 affirmed by the California Supreme Court; it is true that the 18 said 1930 findings of fact and judgment as affirmed by the 19 California Supreme Court and the said 1940 judgment must be con-20 sidered together and are in fact one judicial determination 21 the provisions of each supporting the other, consistent with 22 the other and effectual as one single judicial determination.

23

24 That at the time said 1930 findings of fact and judg-25 ment and said 1940 judgment were entered, the lands which 26 comprised the Rancho Santa Margarita were used primarily as 27 a cattle ranch with related ranching activities; that since the 28 United States of America acquired said lands in 1941, 1942 and 29 1943 as hereinabove set forth said lands have been used pri-30 marily as a military enclave for defense purposes; that as a 31 result of the change of this land use there has been a

1 substantial change in the type of riparian water use that has 2 been made on said lands in that the use by the United States of 3 America is substantially equivalent to the use made by a 4 municipality as contrasted to the former use of the Rancho Santa 5 Margarita.

6 VIII

7 That since the entry of the judgment in 1940 the 8 United States of America has greatly increased the pumping of 9 ground waters within its military enclave which ground waters
10 are a part of the Santa Margarita River; that as a result thereof
11 almost all of the uses of the waters of the said Santa Margarita 12 River by the United States of America have been made by pumping 13 from the said ground waters of the said river.

14 IX

15 That the said judgment entered in 1940 and referred 16 to hereinabove provided that the allocation to the Rancho 17 Santa Margarita of two-thirds of the entire waters of the Santa 18 Margarita River would be determined by measuring the normal 19 flow at Ysidaro Narrows (Station 6) or if that normal flow at 20 said Narrows was less than the normal flow at Temecula Gorge
21 (Station 3), the normal flow at Temecula Gorge (Station 3)
22 would be used to determine the Rancho's two-thirds allocation 23 of the entire waters of said river.

24 X

25 It is true that as a result of the pumping of said
26 ground waters as set forth in Finding VIII above, the normal
27 flow (as distinguished from flood flow) of the Santa Margarita
28 River downstream from Temecula Gorge has not reached the Ysi-29 daro Narrows but has instead recharged the ground waters within 30 the military enclave with the result that the normal flow at 31 Ysidaro Narrows (Station 6) during the irrigation season has

1 been zero and therefore of no practical use in allocating the 2 waters as provided in the 1940 judgment.

3 XI

4 That the normal surface flow of said Santa Margarita 5 River and its tributaries during the irrigation season from 6 approximately March 15 through September 30 is of minor impor-
7 tance and significance insofar as recharging the ground waters
8 within the military enclave and referred to in Finding VIII
9 above; that said recharge of said ground waters is accomplished 10 almost entirely by waters flowing in and over said lands im-
11 mediately following periods of moderate or heavy precipitation 12 which occur only rarely during the irrigation season.

13 XII

14 That the United States of America has satisfied and 15 in all probability can continue to satisfy its reasonable 16 and beneficial water requirements within the Santa Margarita 17 River watershed from pumping from ground waters within its 18 military enclave as found in Finding VIII above; that at 19 the present time said ground waters have been recharged 20 primarily by the winter and early spring runoffs to a degree 21 sufficient to meet said reasonable and beneficial water re-22 quirements of the United States of America without regard to 23 or reliance upon the maintenance during the irrigation season
24 of three second feet surface flow of the Santa Margarita River 25 at Temecula Gorge as provided in the 1940 judgment.

26 XIII

27 That the use of the ground waters by the United States 28 of America as found in Finding VIII above does not entail any 29 excessive nor unreasonable burdens, financial or otherwise, 30 upon the part of the United States of America, and is in fact 31 the most efficient and economical method whereby the United 32 States of America can satisfy its reasonable and beneficial water

1 requirements; it is true that the United States of America, 2 because of the nature of the stream system itself, could not 3 satisfy its proper riparian uses of water from the surface flow 4 of the Santa Margarita River.

5 XIV

6 That since the entry of the judgment in 1940 referred 7 to hereinabove, considerable acreages of land which are riparian 8 to the Santa Margarita River and its tributaries have become 9 productive and waters from said river have been supplied to 10 said land for reasonable and beneficial purposes; that said 11 increase in riparian acreages of land which have used the waters 12 of said Santa Margarita River have been made by persons who 13 were not parties to the litigation before the Superior Court of 14 San Diego County as found hereinabove; that said persons are 15 parties to this proceeding and have asserted riparian rights
16 to use the waters of the Santa Margarita River and its tribu-17 taries; that said uses of water by said persons on riparian 18 lands who were not parties to the prior litigation in the 19 Superior Court of San Diego County have had a substantial 20 effect on the river including, but not limited to, the lower-21 ing of the ground water tables and causing a reverse gradient, 22 temporary in nature, of the ground water movement in one of 23 the principal basins upstream from the lands of the United 24 States, to wit: Murrieta Basin.

25 XV

26 It is not true that the uses of water on the riparian 27 land by those persons not parties to the proceedings in the 28 Superior Court of San Diego County as set forth in Finding XIV 29 above have been improper; it is true that said uses are proper 30 riparian uses.

XVI

It is not true that the United States of America and Vail Company have consistently followed the allocation of waters as provided in the 1940 judgment from the years 1940 through 1960; it is true that on occasions both the Vail Company and the United States of America frequently diverted and used the waters of the Santa Margarita River substantially in excess of their respective allocations provided in said 1940 judgment.

XVII

It is true that in 1940 when the stipulated judgment was entered there were a substantial number of persons (numbering several thousand) who were not parties to the litigation in the Superior Court of the County of San Diego who had rights to the use of the waters of the Santa Margarita River; it is true that the 1940 judgment expressly allocated all of the natural flow of the Santa Margarita River to the four parties to the proceeding; it is true that said allocation of all of the natural flow of said river to the four parties as provided in said 1940 judgment is the basic provision therein and cannot be isolated from the remainder of said 1940 judgment.

XVIII

It is not true that the 1940 judgment was a contract between the United States of America and Vail Company, or was intended to be a contract; it is true that said 1940 judgment was and was intended to be a judicial declaration of the respective rights to the use of the riparian waters of the parties to that litigation.

XIX

It is not true that said 1940 judgment was a pooling agreement whereby the United States of America and Vail Company

1 agreed to pool their respective riparian rights on the river.

2 XX

3 It is true that Vail Company has filed in this pro-4 ceeding and served on the United States of America a notice of 5 rescission of contract which by its terms is expressly con-6 ditioned as to its application upon a judicial determination 7 that said 1940 judgment was a contract; it is true that if said 8 1940 judgment were to be treated as a contract, Vail Company has 9 rescinded said contract and was privileged to do so in that the 10 United States of America by its conduct has substantially de-11 prived Vail Company of the benefits specifically and impliedly 12 provided therein, to-wit:

13 (a) It is true that the United States of America has 14 asserted and continues to assert in this proceeding rights to 15 the use of the waters of the Santa Margarita River as against 16 Vail Company substantially outside of the terms of said 1940 17 judgment including asserted riparian, prescriptive and appro-
18 priative rights, and paramount rights based on the sovereignty
19 of the United States of America, which, if found to be valid
20 by this Court, would substantially prevent Vail Company from ob-21 taining the water allocated to it by said 1940 judgment.

22 (b) It is true that the United States of America 23 has asserted and is continuing to assert riparian rights to 24 ground waters which pursuant to the 1930 findings of fact and 25 judgment of the Superior Court of the County of San Diego were 26 found not to be a part of the Santa Margarita River.

27 (c) It is true that one of the principal reasons for 28 the Vail Company agreeing to the provisions of the 1940 judgment 29 was to terminate expensive and lengthy litigation; it is true 30 that the United States of America by bringing this action and 31 by naming Vail Company as a party thereto and by forcing

1 Vail Company to defend this action and its water rights on 2 the said river, not only as against other parties but against 3 the United States of America, has forced Vail Company to engage 4 in and defend a lengthy and costly litigation.

5 XXI

6 It is true that the United States of America has 7 pleaded and is asserting against Vail Company not only the 8 rights provided to the United States of America by said 1940
9 judgment but also rights to the use of the waters of the Santa 10 Margarita River as a riparian, prescriptor and appropriator, 11 and water rights designated as paramount rights based on 12 sovereignty; it is true that said claimed rights to the use of 13 the waters of the said river are substantially beyond those 14 provided to the Rancho Santa Margarita by the 1940 judgment; it 15 is true that to the extent said claimed rights of the United 16 States of America are found by this Court to be valid, Vail
17 Company's rights to use the water of the Santa Margarita River 18 as provided in the 1940 judgment would be lessened.

19 XXII

20 It is true that the 1930 findings of fact and judgment
21 of the Superior Court of San Diego County specifically deter-22 mined and found that the ground waters underlying ancient mesa 23 silt formations were not part of the Santa Margarita River 24 and that the Rancho Santa Margarita had no rights thereto.

25 XXIII

26 It is true that said ancient mesa silt formations are 27 the same formations referred to in this case as older alluvium.

28 XXIV

29 It is true that Vail Company owns large acreages of 30 land (at least 35 sections) in the ancient mesa silt formations.

XXV

It is true that the United States of America is asserting in this case as against Vail Company and all other defendants, riparian rights to ground water underlying ancient mesa silt formations, including those ground waters underlying those formations on Vail Company lands.

XXVI

It is true that the United States of America has offered into evidence considerable testimony and exhibits directed to establishing that the ground waters underlying said ancient mesa silt formations are part of the Santa Margarita River, and that said waters are considerable in amount.

XXVII

It is true that the United States of America has consistently contended and still contends that it is entitled to riparian rights to ground waters underlying ancient mesa silt formations as well as all rights provided to the Rancho Santa Margarita in the 1940 judgment.

XXVIII

It is true that the United States of America contests the Vail Company's exclusive right as against the United States of America to the ground waters underlying the ancient mesa silt formations as provided to the Vail Company by the 1930 findings of fact and judgment.

XXIX

It is true that ground waters underlying ancient mesa silt formations in substantial areas of the Santa Margarita River watershed including those ground waters underlying said formations on the lands of the Vail Company are a part of the Santa Margarita River and that the United States of America as a riparian has a correlative right thereto.

XXX

2 That on or about September 30, 1950, duly authorized 12
3 agents of the United States of America requested the permission
4 of the Vail Company to drill an exploration well on Vail Company
5 lands; that the Vail Company agreed thereto and a well was sub-6 sequently drilled by the United States of America to a depth 7 of approximately 2469 feet; that in requesting the permission 8 of the Vail Company to enter Vail Company lands and in drilling 9 said well the United States of America did not rely on any pro-
10 visions of the 1930 or 1940 judgments referred to in Findings II 11 and IV above, but acted solely to obtain geologic information 12 for purposes unrelated to said judgment.

XXXI

14 That by drilling said well referred to in Finding XXX 15 above, the United States of America acquired the geologic in-16 formation it desired to obtain; that the United States of 17 America had knowledge that the Vail Company might use said 18 well after it had been drilled to the depth desired by the 19 United States of America and after the United States of America 20 had obtained the geologic information desired by it; that after 21 said well was drilled to the depth desired and the geologic 22 information obtained by the United States of America, the 23 Vail Company has used said well for irrigation purposes on 24 their lands; that the specific capacity of said well is 25 approximately 18.5 gallons per minute per foot of drawdown and 26 the water therefrom is of a poor quality for irrigation pur-27 poses.

28

XXXII

29 It is true that at the time the United States of 30 America was negotiating with Vail Company to acquire the Vail
31 Company's consent to drill said Navy well, the United States

1 of America was preparing this lawsuit for filing and on 2 January 25, 1951 filed this lawsuit naming Vail Company as 3 a defendant but had not advised Vail Company of its intention 10
4 to file said suit and did not serve Vail Company with summons
5 and complaint until on or about February 14, 1951; it is true 6 that much of the geologic information obtained by the drilling
7 of the Navy well has been used by the United States of America
8 to support its claims that the ground waters underlying mesa 9 silt formation are a part of the Santa Margarita River.

10 XXXIII

11 That on or about August 16, 1946, the Vail Company
12 filed an application, No. 11518, with the Department of Public 13 Works, Division of Water Resources of the State of California, 14 for a permit to appropriate 40,000 acre feet of water annually 15 from Temecula Creek to be accumulated by storage between 16 November 1 and April 30; that protests to said application
17 were duly filed by the United States of America and others; 18 that subsequently the United States of America advised that 19 its protest was being withdrawn; that thereafter hearings on 20 said application were held and evidence in support of and in 21 opposition to said application was received; that despite the 22 attempted withdrawal of its protest, the United States of 23 America appeared at said hearings and presented evidence in 24 regard to said application; that said hearings were held 25 jointly with an application by Fallbrook Public Utility Dis-26 trict; that thereafter a permit (No. 7032) to appropriate 27 40,000 acre feet of water annually from Temecula Creek by 28 storage to be accumulated between November 1 and April 30, 29 was issued to the Vail Company; that thereafter and within 30 the time provided in said permit, the Vail Company constructed 31 Vail Dam.

That the Permit referred to in Findings XXXIII above
3 specifically provides that the Vail Company rights pursuant 14 4 thereto are subject to all prior vested rights to the use of 5 said waters of Temecula Creek.

That to the extent that any claimed right of the 8 United States of America to use of the waters of Temecula Creek 9 is valid under California law said right was vested prior to 10 the filing of Application No. 11518 by the Vail Company as found 11 in Finding XXXIII above.

12

13

That commencing in 1948 the Vail Company, acting 14 pursuant to Permit No. 7032, has stored said waters of Temecula 15 Creek at Vail Dam; that since said year of 1948, and principally 16 as a result of the lack of runoff water resulting from natural 17 conditions, the Vail Company has not stored in the reservoir 18 at said Vail Dam during any year 40,000 acre feet of water, but 19 has only been able to store therein approximately 4,000 acre 20 feet on an annual average since 1948.

21

22

That said storage of water at Vail Dam as found above 23 has not adversely affected any right of the United States of 24 America to the use of the waters of Temecula Creek; that the 25 ground water basins within the military enclave and used by 26 the United States of America to satisfy almost all of their 27 reasonable and beneficial water requirements as previously 28 found herein have been recharged periodically since the year
29 1948 to such an extent that the United States of America 30 has been able to satisfy its lawful needs, in a large part, 31 from said basins as annually recharged; that in fact, as of

29

That it is not true that the rights of the United

1 May 1958, the said ground water basins within said military 2 enclave and referred to in Finding VIII above were substantially 3 full. There has been since 1958 some slight lowering of water 4 levels but there still remains a great amount of water in the 5 basins. The water year of 1960 has been one of the driest in 6 history. Its impact on the basins cannot immediately be deter-7 mined.

8 XXXVIII

9 That during the period from 1948-1958 amounts of water
10 approximately double the amounts of water stored at Vail Dam 11 during said period have passed the Ysidora Narros (Station 6) and 12 wasted into the ocean.

13 XXXIX

14 That it is not true that the United States of America 15 withdrew its protest as found in Finding XXXVIII above upon an 16 assurance that the Vail Company would never seek to modify, 17 change or enjoin the water allocation and provisions of the 1940
18 judgment referred to in Finding IV above; that it is not true 19 that the actions of the Vail Company in obtaining a permit for 20 the storage of water at Vail Dam and constructing Vail Dam and 21 storing water therein were in conflict with any provision of 22 said 1940 judgment.

23 XL

24 That it is not true that the mere withdrawal of the 25 protest by the United States of America as found in Finding XXXVIII
26 above, was of any benefit to the Vail Company in the acquisition 27 of the permit referred to in said Finding XXXVIII above.

28 XLI

29 That it is not true that the rights of the United 30 States of America to the use of the waters of the Santa Margarita 31 River and its tributaries have been lessened, endangered or

1 affected as of the date of these findings by the operation
2 of Vail Dam or by the appropriative right to store water 3 therein as found above.

4 XLII

5 That it is true that the storage of water at Vail
6 Dam and subsequent release of said water for irrigation pur-
7 poses on lands downstream from said Dam has provided a bene-
8 ficial regulation of waters of Temecula Creek in that all re-9 turn flows from said waters after application to said lands
10 have returned to the Santa Margarita River, or a tributary 11 thereto, and become available for reasonable and beneficial 12 use downstream, and that none of said waters have wasted into 13 the ocean.

14 XLIII

15 It is not true that the enjoining of the 1930 and 16 1940 judgments of the Superior Court of San Diego County in 17 any way will impair the present uses of the waters by the 18 United States of America on their lands either within or without 19 the watershed of the Santa Margarita River.

20 Dated: April 25, 1961.

21
22
23 JUDGE, UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

24
25 CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

26 I

27 That the 1930 findings of fact and judgment and 28 the 1940 judgment must be considered as one judgment.

29 II

30 That as a result in the change of conditions as to 31 the water use of the waters of the Santa Margarita River since

1 1940, the 1940 judgment does not represent an equitable ripa-
2 rian allocation of waters as to the United States of America
3 and Vail Company. 17

4 III

5 That the substantial number of defendants in the 6 instant case who are asserting riparian rights to the reasonable 7 and beneficial uses of waters of said Santa Margarita River have 8 rights thereto which cannot be affected by the 1940 judgment 9 and which, if recognized, as they must be, results in the 1940
10 judgment being inequitable and not a fair riparian apportion-11 ment between Vail Company and the United States of America.

12 IV

13 That to the extent the 1940 judgment attempted to 14 allocate all of the waters of the Santa Margarita River to the 15 parties thereto it is void in that other persons not parties 16 to that action had substantial rights thereto.

17 V

18 That the 1940 judgment was not a contract nor was it 19 a pooling agreement.

20 VI

21 That if said judgment be construed as a contract, 22 Vail Company was privileged to rescind, as it has done.

23 VII

24 That the instant case is a quiet title action, and 25 that in equity the United States of America cannot claim the 26 benefits of the provisions of the 1940 judgment and at the same 27 time ignore the detriments as provided by the 1930 findings of 28 fact and judgment.

29 VIII

30 That it would be inequitable as to Vail Company to 31 enforce against it the provisions of the 1940 judgment and at

1 the same time allow the United States of America to not be 2 bound by the provisions of the 1930 findings of fact and judg-
3 ment. 10

4 IX

5 That the Vail Company is not estopped to contend 6 that the 1940 judgment should be modified, changed or set aside 7 nor has the Vail Company engaged in acts which would make 8 available a defense of laches or similar defense.

9 X

10 That in equity the enjoining of the provisions of 11 the 1930 findings of fact and judgment and the 1940 judgment 12 will accomplish substantial fairness and justice to both the 13 United States of America and Vail Company.
